We have received a DMCA Takedown Notice (<http://chillingeffects.org/dmca512/faq.cgi#QID130>) for material published on your WordPress.com site. However, because we believe this to be fair use of the material, we will not be removing it at this time. Section 107 of the copyright law identifies various purposes for which the reproduction of a particular work may be considered fair, such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, and research:

Thank you! They have reported a DMCA violation before, and even tried to DDOS my site because I published something critical of their fraud organisation. You folks moved my site to a different architecture because of the DDOS.
